

Meet Beacon Street

Beacon Street brings the Gospel to a young generation through a performing arts ministry that incorporates sets, props, music, drama, puppets, dance and other expressions.

Full time artistic director and performer Bob Kloos sometimes remarks: "I get to do for these kids what I wish someone had done for me when I was in their shoes. Intergenerational sacramental programs need to inform and motivate while being sensitive to 'the way we learned it' a couple decades ago. Sometimes the challenge is to make the Good News sound good and new. Ours is not to rewrite the scriptures but to announce them in a way that engages, enlivens, and enthuses those 'who have ears to hear.' That allows for the goodness to emerge and the newness to take over."

Hierarchical Divine Liturgy

"Where the bishop is, there is the Church," said St. Ignatius of Antioch. We venerate the bishop as the icon of Christ. On Sunday, June 28, we will gather as the Church of Parma together with our bishop to celebrate the Eucharist, the reality that makes us Church. The Hierarchical Divine Liturgy will take place outside on the grounds of the cathedral at 2:00 p.m., preceded by a concert of choirs at 1:00 p.m. This is a Liturgy you won't want to miss!

Several additional bishops will be joining us for our celebration, including:

- Metropolitan Basil Schott, Archeparchy of Pittsburgh
- Bishop William Skurla, Eparchy of Passaic
- Bishop Gerald Dino, Eparchy of Van Nuys
- Metropolitan Nicholas, Orthodox Diocese of Johnstown
- Bishop Leonard Blair, Diocese of Toledo
- Bishop George Murry, SJ, Diocese of Youngstown
- Bishop Anthony Pilla, Bishop Emeritus of Cleveland
- Bishop Edward Pevec, Bishop Emeritus of Cleveland
